Godzilla: King of the Monsters' Ultra HD Blu-ray disc only has the audio commentary on it. However, you can find the rest of the following special features on the Bonus Features Blu-ray disc:

- Monsters 101
  - Godzilla: Nature's Fearsome Guardian
  - Mothra: Queen of the Monsters
  - Ghidorah: The Living Extinction Machine
  - Rodan: Airborne God of Fire
- Evolution of the Titans
  - Godzilla 2.0
  - Making Mothra
  - Creating Ghidorah
  - Reimagining Rodan
- Monarch in Action
  - The Yunnan Temple
  - Castle Bravo
  - The Antarctic Base
  - The Isla de Mara Volcano
  - The Undersea Lair
- Millie Bobby Brown: Force of Nature
- Monster Tech: Monarch Joins the Fight
- Monsters Are Real
- Welcome to the Monsterverse
- Deleted Scenes
- Theatrical Trailers
- Audio Commentary with Michael Dougherty, Zach Shields, and O'Shea Jackson Jr.

Surprisingly, this release of Godzilla: King of the Monsters features an entire treasure trove of information about the film. Most of that information comes from the audio commentary with Dougherty, Shields, and Jackson Jr. Although Dougherty takes over much of the audio commentary, he reveals a ton of Easter eggs in the film. Small details that you might've missed the first time around. It's clear from the get-go that Dougherty (and Jackson Jr.) are huge fans of the Godzilla franchise.

In addition, "Evolution of the Titans", "Monarch in Action", and "Monster Tech" provide even more behind-the-scenes information about the making of the film. It features a lot of pre-visualization, storyboards, and behind-the-scenes footage. "Monsters Are Real" is another interesting featurette which highlights the history of "monsters" in our world. It's always interesting to hear about the history of something and its influence on a particular film.

Unfortunately, the rest of the special features are skippable. "Monsters 101" provide information and statistics about the four monsters in the film. However, if you're a fan of the series or saw the film already then this information will be useless to you. At the same time, the Millie Bobby Brown featurette is simply a "pat on the back" featurette that's taking over a majority of special features nowadays. The "Monsterverse" feature is simply a giant ad for the upcoming Godzilla vs. Kong film. Be that as it may, this hype video does its job really well. It will make you very excited about the upcoming versus film. Lastly, the deleted scenes are scenes that are interesting but useless in terms of the overall storyline.
